METHODOLOGY:

- These rankings are the result of a "perception-based" survey, which means it encapsulates what a sample of the general public thinks about a school and does not necessarily reflect what it actually offers.
- The survey covers Mumbai and Navi Mumbai.
- Mumbai has been divided into four regions, defined as follows:
  - SOUTH: South of Dadar, not including Dadar

- WEST: North of Dadar (West) up to Malad, not including Malad
- EAST: North of Dadar (East) up to Ghatkopar, not including Ghatkopar
- NORTH: Everything north of Malad in the west and Ghatkopar in the east
  - The survey consisted of two phases.
  - In the first phase, about 100 people in each region ranked what they believed were the top 10 schools in their zones. The ratio of par-

- ents to teachers was about 80 to 20. These schools were not ranked.
- In the second phase, 541 parents and 253 teachers rated the schools shortlisted in the first phase, along each of the eight parameters above.
  - At least 20 people rated one school. If a person rated a school that their child attended or taught at, his or her rating was not used.
  - The average rating for each school was finally computed.
